

EARLY 19TH CENTURY RUSSIAN NEOCLASSICAL TABLE BY HEINRICH GAMBS

$8,900.00

ABOUT

Period Russian neoclassical table with original planter insert. Attributed to Heinrich Gambs. Ebony and figured birch, brass inlay. Top bearing family monogram. Original ormolu mounts. Tables such as this were used as both side or console tables and were planted with spring bulbs.

What a wonderful "Paper White" display it could make in the winter months. Notes: The repeated rosettes of the edge of the top, the caryatid mounts and distinctive fan-shaped motif to the frieze are all characteristics of the German-born cabinet-maker Heinrich Gambs, who was based in St. Petersburg from the 1780's and supplied extensively to the Imperial court, often in collaboration with the designer Andrei Voronikhin. Provenance: Christie's, Living with Art February 7, 2015.
